CLASS PAD | BRONZE

The male owner of this condo in the Residences at the Omni wanted a space that was cozy but didn't go the usual neutral route of most bachelor pads. To give him exactly that, designer Kelly Taylor worked hand-in-hand with the architect to create a space with an inviting color palette of plums, grays, blues and golds, and plenty of custom and personal details. No surface was left untouched: woodwork, wall coverings, flooring and paint were all carefully selected, and custom light fixtures add interest without breaking up the space. The owner's love of fishing is evident throughout in the form of rocks he has collected on trips and a custom shower door handle in the shape of a trout. Other touches, like a dry bar and television cabinet with lift, guarantee the owner will be proud to call this space home for years to come.
